Let 4 jobs for $8 mil.

Staff hits new high

Four contracts totaling over $8 million were awarded during the last week for construction jobs at Mississippi Test Operations while bids have been called for opening during the next month on two jobs estimated to cost almost $12 million.

Meanwhile employment at the test site continued its upward climb in spite of rainy weather this week. Total work force was listed at 1,036, up from 1,013 last week to set another record. Contractor personnel stood at 691.

Biggest contract let this week was for $4,397,000 to Broadway Maintenance Corp. and Glantz Contracting Corp., joint venture from Long Island City, N. Y., to build extensive facilities to handle rocket propellants. Included are a control building, unloading pumps and storage tanks at the RP-1 dock for handling refined petroleum shipped in by railroad, truck trailer and barge; similar facilities at the cryogenic dock; and RP-1 distribution piping to the test complex. Completion date is April, 1965. Leslie Miller, Inc., Power Engineering Co. and Donovan Construction Co., joint ventures of Ft. Worth, Tex., got a $3,537,025.85 job to build a large high pressure water and heating facility to provide industrial water under high pressure to the test stands for cooling flame deflectors during firing operations and to heat and air condition the Saturn V complex. This is to be completed in August, 1965.

A $165,489.25 award went to U. S. Paving Corp. of Wichita Falls, Tex., to construct utilities for the central control building and data handling center while Thornton Construction Co., Inc., and Hyde Construction Corp., joint venture from Gulfport, got a $24,511 job for utilities at the central heating plant and laboratory and engineering building. Both are to be finished by the end of June.

May 19 has been set for the opening of bids at Corps of Engineers district offices in Mobile on the first test position of the St-C stand which will become the tallest structure in Mississippi. Government estimate on this work is $10 million.

Bids on the test maintenance building in the industrial complex, estimated to run over $1 million, are to be opened April 30.

Contract with Raytheon Corp. for atmospheric testing was extended by NASA for six months, ending Oct. 31, at $56,752.

Request for a two-cent reduction in gasoline tax was taken under consideration by the board of supervisors Monday after Andre Arceneaux, speaking for the Hancock County Service Station Assn., seven members attending the meeting, said the reduction would increase the amount of taxes received rather than decrease it.

"We want to get on a competitive basis with Louisiana where gasoline is eight or nine cents cheaper," he said. "This would still leave the board 5 1/4 cents and the reduction would double the county's gasoline sales and the amount received from taxes would be actually more than is received now because people, especially from the MTO area, are buying their gasoline in Louisiana or even in Pearl River County. They just buy enough here to get to the state or county line," he continued, adding that it was disheartening to have big trucks drive in a service station and buy just enough gas to get to the Louisiana line, knowing they could buy it eight or nine cents cheaper there.

He also said that about $4 million a year is spent to get people here "and then we chase them out with the gas tax".

Board president R. G. Hubbard, Jr., noted that the present seawall tax was three cents and cited Sec. 8514 of the code which originally provided 1 3/4 cents seawall tax. It wasn't enough, he said, and it was raised to three cents by Sec. 1515.

He added that payments, although declining in amount, would have to be made on the seawall bond issue until 1972. Also that there was $47,000 in the maintenance fund and it was necessary this fund be kept up in case of hurricane or other disaster.

Beat 1 Supervisor Harlan G. Dean asked what the price of gasoline was and Arceneaux replied 38.9 cents. Dean noted that a station on Rt. 43 was selling it for 31.9 and Arceneaux said "we can't buy it for that".

Dean also noted the county was in debt until 1972 and nothing could be done about the tax at the present time. Arceneaux countered that there was already enough money to pay off the bonds and asked if the tax could be put on a temporary basis. Attorney Lucien Gex said he would have to check the statutes to see if supervisors had the power to reduce the tax but added that most similar bills contained such a provision.

Arceneaux said afterward that the delegation would attend the May 4 meeting.

Pennie Webre wins title of Miss Southern Bay St. Louis' Pennie Sue Webre is the new Miss Southern. The 20-year-old sophomore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Webre, was chosen Tuesday night from a field of 14 local finalists to represent the University of Southern Mississippi in the Miss Mississippi pageant at Vicksburg this summer. She succeeds Mari Longino, Poplarville sophomore, as the reigning Miss Southern.

Pennie was sponsored in the beauty and talent contest by her school sorority, Alpha Sigma Alpha.

Ask $375,000 on 3 schools

A May 2 referendum was set by the board of supervisors Monday for the county school board's requested $375,000 bond issue to finance a three-fold construction program.

The bond figure set by the school board anticipates $150,000 upwards as the settlement with the federal government on sale of the old Logtown School for Mississippi Test Operations buffer zone. But unless the settlement is $200,000 or more, it appears on the basis of Architect Fred Wagner's estimates of the contemplated expansion program the school board will be hard pressed to accomplish what it proposes. Wagner's figure on the total job for a new Logtown School at Pearlman, 10-classroom addition at Gulfview, four classrooms and other facilities at Hancock North Central is $594,840.

School trustees rescinded their resolution of last November calling for a $350,000 bond issue for the three projects at their Monday session before Board attorney Walter J. Phillips took the documents before the supervisors for approval. They wrote in $375,000 instead and hoped corners could be cut.

On Phillips' advice they deleted earmarking fixed sums for each project and this was concurred in by Charles and Trauerlicht, St. Louis, Mo., bond attorneys who handle the county's bond business.

This deletion was opposed by Beat 1 Supervisor Harlan G. Dean who said the matter was originally proposed to the supervisors as designating a certain amount for each location "and I would like to keep it that way".

Board of Supervisors' attorney Lucien Gex reminded those present that supervisors have control of the money saying they could "refuse to sell the bonds" and added that a solution would be to let the bond issue stand as presently prepared and the school board, at a later date, could adopt an order stating the amount for each location shall be "not more than or less than" designated amounts.

While County Superintendent of Education Robert Lacher did not oppose the figure settled on by the school board, he noted there may be a need for securing additional land at Gulfview to secure accreditation of the facility. In this instance since the whole project will be locally financed the school board does not have to worry about State Education Finance Commission land requirements. Phillips characterized them as "desirable" but not mandatory.

Phillips, who also is the county representative in the legislature, told the school board his efforts to secure emergency relief for the county as a result of MTO's impact had been received with interest and sympathy by his fellow legislators who told him at the same time they could not justify any special financial aid for Hancock.

Bail bill for county is enacted

Hancock County Board of Supervisors this week was authorized to transfer $50,000 from the road and bridge bond to the general fund under the act introduced by Rep. James Phillips. The bill became law when Gov. Paul B. Johnson signed it on Friday, the first time this procedure has been taken during the governor's three month tenure. This is the second time in five years the board of supervisors has enacted such a bill.

Home razed, child burned

A gas hot water heater exploded about noon Wednesday severely scalding and burning a two-year-old child and precipitating a fire which, fanned by a strong north wind, destroyed her Thomas Street home in less than two hours.

In Hancock General Hospital with second degree burns of the hands and face is Lyric Heverling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Heverling, who was playing in the carport near the heater when it exploded, spewing boiling water on her.

Mrs. Heverling, inside the house, noticed the flames, picked up the child and dashed across the street to ask Mrs. Corinne Sick to call the fire department and ambulance. She then ran down Thomas Street to find someone with a car and encountered a Mr. Estrada who drove them to the hospital.

Meanwhile Mrs. Sick telephoned Larroux' grocery and Mrs. Horace Ruhr relayed the message to the fire department and ambulance. Tony Benigno of the fire department and Police Chief Lathan Garriga sped to the scene and the city fire truck appeared to have the blaze pretty much under control in quick order. But then the north wind picked up, fanning the flames and the truck's 300 gallons of water were exhausted.

There was no nearby hydrant so while they went to refill the tank they called for assistance from the Waveland volunteer firemen who reached the scene quickly. Both trucks had to make four refill trips each but by 1:30 p.m. hope of saving the house was gone and they stayed on the scene to keep the blaze from spreading to summer homes nearby.

The residence, 487 Thomas St., was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Leon Doerflin and rented by the Heverlings. No estimate of the damage was available at press time.

Bay St. Louis' Mayor John A. Scalfie appeared briefly to urge that if Waveland adopts plumbing and electrical codes it coordinate with Bay St. Louis, which is considering these ordinances, to the end that the gas masks and Longo said it would be available on a loan basis to the volunteer fire department.

Brother Marcellus paces faculty win

A hard-hitting southpaw twirler, Brother Marcellus of St. Stanislaus, proved too strong for the varsity Rockchaw 9 as they went down to an 8-1 defeat at the hands of their masters and faculty members Sunday afternoon.

Besides holding the varsity to two hits, Brother Marcellus slammed out a triple and a double to lead his mates to victory.

Catching for the faculty was coach Billy Murphy while Eddie Boasburg and Andre Robicheaux pitched and Ned Heath caught for the varsity.

Approximately 5 per cent. items had been held over since opening Jan. 6.

At the request of Leonard Collins and Clarence Garcia of Clément Harbor who complained the road leading to their property had been "cut up" making it impossible for them to get in or out the board adopted an order providing for a hearing to be held and directing the sheriff to notify Harold and Floyd Garcia that the roads adjacent to their property be kept open and all obstructions removed immediately.

Ben Buckman of Shoreline Estates subdivision complained he was being "punished" by the proposed subdivision regulations as he had set up prices on lots and if he had to provide blacktop roads and sewerage he could not sell at a profit.

Hubbard and Dean immediately objected to use of the word "punished" and said they were protecting buyers and themselves. . . that it was possible that sewerage could be sold at a profit.

On motion of Dean the amount allowed the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce was reduced from $200 to $50 per month. Dean was in favor of reducing millage for the advertising fund out of which such payments are made.

Bid of the Hancock County Eagle for legal advertisements was accepted at approximately 50 per cent less than set up by law. Bid was first insertion and one cent thereafter. Only other bidder was Sea Coast Echo at

Waveland calls bids for fire pumper

Waveland's Mayor and Board of Aldermen voted Tuesday to call for bids for a Class A fire pumper. Action was taken after a meeting of the board.

Various optional features which would be available for a pumper were estimated would cost $10,500 and $20,000.

Another aspect of the project is to improve its protection, which may include reducing its insurance from class 10 to class 8.

Mayor and aldermen agreed to call for bids for a new pumper. Plans for a new community hall have been discussed by the board and the inclusion of facilities in Gulfport is being considered with this project.

The recommendation of John Longo, Jr., who is civil defense director, was to purchase a pumper valued at $106,800.

The equipment valued at $106,800 was purchased through Mississippi Property Protection Commission. This commission is formed from folding in a vacuum blower and Action toward redistricting was speeded up Monday when W. J. Pippin of Leetown, who last month presented to the Board of Supervisors a petition requesting change in lines between Beats 2 and 4, was told by board president R. G. Hubbard, Jr., that no progress had been made but that supervisors would meet informally Wednesday evening and would take some action next Monday.

The board spent approximately two hours Monday discussing possible solutions to the problem and appeared closer than ever to an answer. All agreed that something had to be done because of absorption of virtually all Beat 2 by the MTO site. Beat 1 supervisor Harlan G. Dean said "if we can't work out something, I have a proposal to make."

Dean also produced a copy of the Sept. 5, 1963, issue of the Echo in which a report of an informal discussion of a redistricting formula was published and said he would still go along with the plan. He had offered to take over the Lakeshore area of Beat 5 and Hubbard had proposed redistricting in terms of three beats running from the coast north to the Jordan River or north of Kiln.

In other matters, Herbert Steffell, civil defense director, asked that a citizens' band transceiver be purchased and placed in the sheriff's office saying this would put the sheriff in immediate touch with 150 owners of similar sets throughout the county 24 hours a day.

"This would be invaluable in case of an emergency and in case of a hurricane it could be the difference between life and death".

"The system is already set up," he added, "and is being used by civil defense and other organizations".

Supervisors approved purchase of the set and antenna at approximately $350 when funds are available. Hubbard noted a local and private bill to transfer $50,000 to the general fund is pending and the pur-

Teen Times

Don't forget...the Jaycees' first teen-age Road-o-o is this coming Saturday. The skill tests begin at 11 a.m. at Our Lady of the Gulf schoolyard. We realize that not every boy and girl in the area will compete, but it might be a good idea for everyone who possibly can to at least spectate.

Band concerts, another sure sign of spring, drew large audiences. North Central presented their annual musical program last Friday and St. Stanislaus' concert was Tuesday at the A and G Theater. Don't know when Bay High band members will demonstrate their talents, but it's usually around the end of this month.

Get well wishes go to Doc Rhodes who was hospitalized with an arm injury and to Tler Mayfield and Kenny Develle; both had recent foot surgery.

A Hawaiian motif was carried out when Lewis Kempf entertained at an informal dance honoring Miss Patricia Gartin, daughter of Lieut. Gov. and Mrs. Carroll Gartin at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club on Saturday, March 28, from 4 until 8 p.m. Each girl guest was presented a lei, the boys received straw beach hats. Out-of-town guests enjoying dancing to the loudettes and refreshments included Lorenza Wahmsley, Anne Richardson, Therese Stern, Frank Villere, Hugh Lapeyre and Carlton Capdeville.

Harry Shattuck is at present in Houston, Tex., where as a member of Millsaps College debating team he's competing in the Southern Tournament of high schools and colleges.

The Pearl River bus is now scoring three for three wreck-wise having bagged its first automobile Friday afternoon. The other mishaps involved livestock.

We'll welcome Carol Taylor to the column officially. She was 13 on Easter Sunday. Although Carol and family now live in Baton Rouge they frequently return to their Second Street home.

Good Health On The Gulf Coast

Maintaining the nation's second oldest full time county health unit. Harrison County has an enviable reputation as a major health and medical center.

As early as 1917, when the Harrison County Board of Supervisors made an appropriation of $5,000 to begin its remarkable program, it soon made a world-wide record for stamping out disease: malarial and typhoid fevers, hookworm, pellagra, tuberculosis and the social diseases, in particular.

Committees from the Pan American Union, Johns Hopkins and later the League of Nations visited these shores to marvel at and praise our signal achievements in improving sanitation and health promoting measures. Harrison County won a reputation as one of the healthiest counties in the nation, and still adds new laurels to an enviable record.

In addition to the modern hospitals at the Keesler Air Force Base, and the two Veterans' Facilities at Biloxi and Gulfport, additional general up-to-date hospitals are located at Bay Saint Louis, Gulfport, Biloxi and Pascagoula. Also the three Coast counties of Hancock, Harrison and Jackson generously support full time, well-staffed county health units.

It has been our good fortune on the Mississippi Gulf Coast to be blessed by nature with a climate conducive to much living out-of-doors. Sunshine and pure drinking water contribute to the well-being of a people who have contributed generously to improve upon our God-given natural resources.

Good health on the Mississippi Gulf Coast is foremost among our countless assets. In addition to all it does to make for ideal living conditions and a favorable business climate, it is essential to our growing resort and recreational center.

Make the Mississippi Gulf Coast the cleanest and healthiest geographic area on tidewater, improve on what nature has so generously provided, and we shall take our place in the sun to become a happier and more prosperous people.

There'll be novel competition at Tower Lanes at 3 p.m. Sunday. The first mixed challenge game will take place between the American Legion auxiliary and the Mulletts. This battle of the sexes will pit Mat Rhodes, Gloria Reinke, Lou Wilkerson, Anna Gayaut and Vode Kneeland against five of the following: M. J. Gleber, Junior LaCaze, Bruce Favre, Gerald Cox, Jack Kneeland and Don Murray. It's to be handicapped of course and we won't tell names and tales too—but one of the local experts has his money on the gals!

Mary Ellen Ladner is another who was hospitalized last week and Irene (Mrs. Ben.) Hill is a patient in a New Orleans hospital.

'Cap' (Mrs. Henry) Capdon called to report that granddaughter Carol Stouder and infant son Michael have arrived safely at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Higgins in San Antonio, Texas. They were evacuated from Valdez where their trailer home was demolished by the earthquake.

There is to be a benefit spaghetti supper at Clermont Harbor Methodist Church Fellowship hall beginning at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Florence Foegele has been doing quite a bit of entertaining recently. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Rezin of Tomah, Wis., visited her enroute to Florida. The Rezins and Florence had heard that a family from Tomah is here with NASA—and would very much like to get in touch with them. Her guests at present are Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Heinemann of Wichita, Kan.

Rocks blister BHS

St. Stanislaus pounded out a 10-5 victory over Bay High Wednesday afternoon at Rockchaw Field to open the baseball season here. Both teams are classed A-AA in District Eight competition.

Curtis Matherne went the route on the mound for the Rocks holding the Tigers to seven scattered hits while his teammates, led by second sacker Dusty Rhodes with three out of four, slammed out 12. Danny Krankey, who had trouble finding the plate for the Tigers and headed for the showers in the fourth, was charged with the loss. Reel pitcher was Earl Fayer who blanked the Rocks in the final two innings. Matherne struck out seven and walked two.

Stanislaus sailed the game away in the second inning with a five-run rally, added one in the third and four in the fourth. The Tigers got one in the third, two in the fifth and one in the seventh. Singles by Juan de Dianous, Matherne, who got two out of three and scored two runs, and Melvin Barrios, an error, walks to Ray Chiniche and Waymon Carr, and a double by Rhodes piled up a five-run lead for the Rocks in the second inning.

For the Tigers, Mike Strong got two out of three, Mike Smith and Johnny Shattuck one for one, Chuck Wagner and Barry Kneeland one for two and Dick Watts one for three. Leslie Blatz, Wagner, Barry Kneeland, Walther Gagnon and Smith accounted for one run each.

Scoring for the Rocks were Chiniche, de Dianous, Matherne and Barrios, two each; Carr and George Anderson one each.

Notre Dame rips Rocks

After getting off to a good start, beating Bay High in the season's opener Wednesday, St. Stanislaus' nine bowed to Notre Dame of Biloxi 9-0 Friday at Rockchaw Field.

Rock pitcher Curtis Matherne was not up to his usual form and coach Buddy Pitilo yanked him in favor of Dianous, Boshberg and Barrios but none could stem the tide. Matherne was charged with the defeat. Rebel pitcher Mike Bernucci displayed good speed and fine-breaking curves to hold the Rocks to two hits while striking out 10 men. Only Rocks to hit safely were centerfielder Waymon Carr and second sacker Dusty Rhodes. The game was called after six innings by agreement of the coaches.

Notre Dame scored two in the third, six in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Robert Gatin, senior at the University of Mississippi, has been named to the varsity golf team again this year.
